First held in 2001, the BOAO Forum for Asia (BOFA) has established itself as the most prestigious opportunity for Asia’s political, business and academic leaders to come together and exchange viewpoints on the most pressing issues faced by this dynamic region and emerging economies.

For many, the BOFA has become Asia’s Davos Forum, a comparison borne out by the event’s magnitude, with more than 2,000 participants from across China, Asia and the Western world coming each year to the island of Boao (Hainan Province, China) for the four-day session. The line-up features global decision-makers, leaders in business in innovation and internationally-recognised speakers, invited to give their perspective, share their expertise and open up discussion, through the round tables dedicated to specific topics.

Jean-Pierre RAFFARIN, former Prime Minister and President of the Commission on Foreign Affairs, Defence and the Armed Forces, Chairman of Fondation Prospective et Innovation, engaged in discussion with Stéphane AVER, CEO of Aaqius at the dinner given by the Foundation at the BOAO Forum.

This year, Stéphane AVER, CEO of Aaqius, was cordially invited to take part in the forum as part of the French delegation led by former Prime Minister Jean-Pierre RAFFARIN, and including Dr Karim MOKADDEM, CEO of Aalps Capital and Wendy Du, Junior Asset Manager at Aalps Capital.

For Aaqius, the BOAO Forum was a chance to take part in intense, high-level discussions and engage talks building toward strategic agreements on the energy transition, in which the STOR-H technology plays a central role. Aaqius built strong ties with the Transition's leading players in innovation, technology and progress, extending from the agreement just signed with the City of Nanjing.
